SPECIAL EDITION FOLDER

Ken Duncan Isolation Series

As Australia's prominent landscape photographer, Ken Duncan has photographed some of the more remote and extreme places on the continent. During his travels around Australia he uncovered traces of man's exploration into the vast outback.

For this series Telstra has collected quiet, reflective landscapes which reveal the pioneering spirit of Australians.

SPECIAL EDITION FOLDER

World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF)

Threatened Species 98.

Threatened Species 98 is a series of four Smart Phonecards designed especially for WWF members and Telstra Phonecard collectors to highlight the plight of Australia's wildlife under threat of extinction.

In February the first folder in the series featured the Ghost Bat. The second release in May is the Yellow-footed Rock Wallaby.

This small mammal is finding it hard to survive against the combined assault from pelt hunters, foxes, and lack of feeding areas, however it is still found living in limited populations in semi-arid regions of South Australia, New South Wales and southern Queensland.

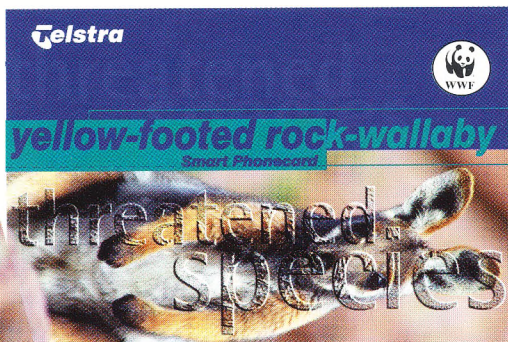

WWF is recognised internationally for working to protect mammals such as the Yellow-footed Rock Wallaby so to become a member and help preserve our endangered wildlife, send a cheque for $35.00 (made payable to WWF Australia) to the Phonecard Collector Service with your completed order form. All new members will receive a WWF calico bag FREE (retail price $9.95).

For this issue only, you can buy all four Phonecards in this series for a face value price of $80.00 instead of $118.00. Each individual folder is still $29.50 .

Please see the order form to take up this offer and help save our endangered species.
