EDITORIAL

My apologies for being a week "late" with this issue but the last month has been extremely hectic for me.

AusCard '96 finally reached its culmination at the Sydney Opera House, whilst the following week was spent getting ready for a visit to New Zealand for CIPEX '96.

People have asked me whether I was "happy" with AusCard '96 and did I think it was a "success". Measuring my exhaustion level was easy but to measure the other aspects not so straight forward.

The main aim of my organising AusCard '96 was to provide a major event on which collectors, dealers and card producers could focus, with a resultant injection of enthusiasm and confidence into the hobby and business of phonecard collecting.

Whilst the number of collectors attending was less than hoped for, those that did attend were able to access the largest gathering of phonecards put together in one room, for some considerable time. Consequently, the collectors attending over the three days were 'happy'.

Dealers reported steady trading with (as allways occurs) some 'doing better' than others.

The Telcos were satisfied, particularly with the sell-out of their commemorative phonecards, although they indicated (as did the dealers) more people in attendance "would have been good"

Which comes back to my thoughts and the stated aim for holding the event.

Whilst all those that participated in AusCard '96 obtained varying degrees of satisfaction from the three days, my one dissapointment was that the actual turnout of collectors attending (or, importantly, prospective collectors attending) was not high, particularly taking into account the quantity and quality of material on display and the publicity and promotion accorded to the event.

Perhaps the glorious Sydney weather during the three days kept people involved outdoors in other pursuits...... who knows?

I'll think about it some more over the next few weeks and as feed-back filters in to me I'll be able to form some conclusions which, hopefully, will provide some basis for the holding of AusCard '97.

Readers will note that this issue of APM is different to other recent issues in that it has has less pages and that there is no inside colour content.

This is due in part to the need to 'get the May issue out', but due partly also, in an attempt to monitor the cost of production of the magazine.

Basically, there are four main areas of cost when producing and mailing out this magazine. (I am excluding my time and labour).

Firstly, the costs associated with film preparation and colour separation are increased greatly by the amount of colour material contained within a magazine, ie. including covers and inside.

Secondly, the cost of paper. Over the last 18 months there has been a considerable increase in the cost of coated paper. Readers will no doubt have noticed that many national and international trading card and phonecard collector magazines have either decreased the number of pages in their publications or replaced sections of coated paper with newsprint.

This is simply an attempt to off-set the sharp increase in the cost of the paper.

Thirdly, the labour costs associated with the actual printing and binding of the magazine increase as staff wages etc., increase over a period of time and are passed on by the printer to the publisher.

Fourthly, the cost of postage is influenced by the number of pages within each magazine. A 36 page magazine costs 95 cents to mail interstate, whilst a 40 page magazine (over 125g) costs $1.50. Similarly, to send a magazine to Europe or the UK the difference is $3.00 as compared to $5.30.

Considering the number of magazines sent to subscribers (and dealers) by mail, the cost of mailing out an issue of 40 pages plus, as compared to 36, is quite considerable.

As the publisher of The Australasian Phonecard Monthly, I must take the above areas into consideration when balancing these (and other) costs against income received from the magazine.

This income is generated in two ways. Firstly, from the sale of the magazine by subscription and through dealers and, secondly, by revenue received from those advertising in the magazine.

Without presenting you with a 'balance sheet', it will suffice to say that it is not always possible to pass on cost increases directly to the source of income, ie., the readers and the advertisers, particularly at this time when the phonecard scene is still recovering from the euphoria of mid to late 1994 and the resultant downturn. Hence the need on my part to rationalise expenses.

A 'leaner' magazine is better than no magazine at all.

AUSTRALIAN NEWS UPDATE

TELSTRA

Advertising & Promotional Releases Finesse Shampoo

At AusCard '96, Telstra released the four Advertising cards for Helen Curtis, promoting Finesse Shampoo. The cards feature a promotion in conjunction with Sportsgirl to win prizes. See Finesse promotional packs for details of the competition.

There are two $5, one $10 & one $20 card in the set.

Of interest, I noticed in the latest issue of the New Zealand publication, "The Phonecard Collectors Newsletter", that Finesse hair shampoo has also recently issued cards in both Norway and Sweden!

Royal Easter Show Card

As reported in the last issue of APM, Telstra's attendance at the Royal Easter Show in Sydney was commemorated with the printing of 6,000 x $5 Promotional Phonecards (see opposite column).

Upcoming Releases

The Olympic series will be released in June and will feature the Olympic teams sponsored by Telstra - the Hockeyroos (hockey), Titans (weight lifting) and Dolphins (swimming). There will be 4,000 Limited Edition folders produced and they will each contain a $5, a $10 and a $20 Phonecard.

Issuing Policy

The Phonecard Design Approval Committee has recently amended the issuing policy for Official (National) Issue Telstra Phonecards. Following is an excerpt from the new Policy.

"The primary objective of the Telstra Phonecard is to provide payment for telephone calls. Each issue of telephone card will be determined by telephone service requirements, commercial demand, production parameters and the design subject matter.

The following will be excluded as design subjects for Official Issue Telstra Phonecard and associated peripheral stationery and products:

- anniversaries other than those of national significance;
- anniversaries of the death of any individual;
- subjects with interest to a narrow section of the community, region, state or territory;
- anniversaries of the founding of a city, town, local government body unless of national significance;
- anniversaries of events connected with religious organisations, political parties or groups, and subjects likely to cause community divisiveness;
- periodic events, including festivals, except Australia Day and Christmas/New Year season, Telstra historical events, and other major telecommunication events;
- products and services, except Telstra Corporate advertising or promotion."

PAYTEL NEWS

The "Big News" at PayTel is the recently signed Agreement with the State Rail Authority of New South Wales, to fit every Countrylink train with a payphone.

These payphones will be PayTel's latest satellite/cellular units which provide uninterrupted call facilities throughout all areas covered by Countrylink trains - particularly in outback NSW.

Associated with the introduction of this new service, PayTel will be releasing a set of phonecards designed by Countrylink Advertising. These cards feature Countrylink's unique advertising posters and are arguably the most fascinating cards seen in 1996!

XPT & Xplorer: "Theatre Goer" ($5 card) shows the range of live theatre productions available to Countrylink patrons travelling to Melbourne and Sydney. You will see The Phantom, Miss Saigon and many others illustrated on the card!

XPT: "Gold Coast Magic" ($10 card) featuring the attractions available to Gold Coast visitors.

XPT: "Sydney Sightseeing" ($20 card) the tourist sights of Sydney riding on an XPT!

These cards and the associated Countrylink designed Limited Edition collectors pack (1500 only) will be available to collectors in early June and will be displayed in colour in the June issue of APM.

Watch for them!

MELBOURNE FAIRS CANCELLED

Due to the lack of a suitable, available, venue, this year's Melbourne International Banknote Fair and Melbourne International Phonecard Fair (originally scheduled for the 29th and 30th of June, 1996). have been cancelled.

The next Australian International Banknote Fair is scheduled for the 9th of November and the next Australian International Phonecard Fair, for 10 November, 1996, at the Menzies Hotel, Sydney.

GABRIELE'S PHONECARD SERVICE

Gabriele regrets that her usual advertisment does not appear in this month's magazine because of her recent holiday in Hawaii..... so busy packing her bag that she ran out of time to prepare the advert it will be back in the next issue.

YHA & VIP BACKPACKERS Phonecards

Following last month's article on the above two Remote Access Phonecards, I have received advice that whilst the Youth Hostel Association card is issued in Australia, it is available only to, fully paid up, United Kingdom members of the Association. It will not be sold to any other than such members.

The International VIP Backpackers card is available in Australia to members of "Bright Hikers". In addition to the $10 Kangaroo card, there is also a $20 phonecard featuring 'Fish'.

INTERNATIONAL NUMISMATICS

Readers will note on both the front cover and the inside back cover, two phonecard issues as released by Pacificnet (part of the International Numismatics group), using PayTel Australia technology.

The Legendary Performers set of five cards features Janet Jackson, Mariah Carey and (a thirsty) Julio Iglesias.

The two Casper phonecards (Series 3) feature Casper and his dastardly friends. For this series, only 500 two card Collector Packs will be issued (at $29.50) plus a further 500 of each card will be available individually (at $10 each).

Contact International Numismatics (see advert) for further information or purchase. Page 10 — Phonecard Monthly

VISA CASH CARDS

Readers will note an extensive article on the recent releases of Visa Cash cards both in the US and on the Gold Coast. In addition to the three cards featured on page 16 (issued by Movie World), a further two cards have been issued by the theme parks Wet 'n' Wild and Sea World.

The reverse side of all five issues is quite colouful as well, a change from the generic Visa cards. A very collectable set of SVCs.

Chris Bollam (Sheepskin Warehouse) advises that "a new card reader is about to be installed in retail outlets on the Gold Coast that can also handle EFTPOS transactions so this will mean one machine rather than two and will reduce telephone line connections".

COMPETITION NO. 8

Would you believe it - not one response to last month's competition re the first issue cards of Telecom, PayTel and Telearch!! I will give the competitions 'a rest' for a while, until I can think of something more innovative and/or stimulating.

LISTING OF PHONECARD COLLECTORS

Daniel Clark from Armidale, NSW is currently involved in quite an interesting pursuit. The following is a copy of a fax recently received from him:

"To help Phonecard Collectors obtain cards from all over the world, I am producing a 'List of Phonecard Collectors from around the World.' The aim is to help collectors obtain phonecards by swapping with other collectors. The list will consist of people both on and off the internet. Eventually it will be beamed around the world on a www page and be available on paper to collectors off the internet.

I am calling for anyone reading this to write a short letter informing me that you want to be placed on the list. It must be signed and include the following details: Name, Address, Country and type of collecting.

Post it to Daniel Clark, 14 Braebank Avenue, Armidale, NSW 2350, Australia, before 1 June 1996. Names and addresses received by then will be included in the first list due to come out before the end of June 1996. Anything received after that will still be put on the internet but won't be included in the postal list. Putting your name on the list is free. I cannot be held responsible for any contacts made using this list. If you give me your details, you agree that you want your name in the list of phonecard collectors from around the world. If later on you want your name and address removed from the list, it will be done so on the web page and it will not be included on any other lists printed after that date."

USA VISA CASH CARDS: OLYMPIC TRIUMPH

In line with our policy to bring you the best coverage of the impact of new technology on phonecards and phonecard collecting, we have devoted considerable space in this and in past issues about Australian Visa Cash cards. The latest news from the USA shows that this technology is being trialled in the world's largest consumer market, and of all places, at the Atlanta Summer Olympic Games starting in June.

The US Visa Cash cards operate on essentially the same technology as the Australian cards, currently on trial in the Gold Coast region, and are also aimed at replacing small cash transactions.

According to Mary Buckley, VISA's Vice-President for Stored Value Cards, "We are targetting all cash transactions of $10 or less. We view Visa Cash as a direct replacement for cash - coins and banknotes - and that it will bring tremendous advantages for both merchants and consumers".

US Pilot

Visa International began in the USA with a pilot program in April 1995, which was very similar to the programs run in Australia. Through Bank of America, Visa issued $5 and $20 cards to employees at its San Francisco headquarters to use in the cafeteria. The $5 cards show an interesting design of stars, planets and Roman numerals on a blue background, with a mintage of only 3000, and were given to employees.

The $20 cards feature a design of coins and banknote-like backgrounds - very similar to the Australian test cards - with the words "Visa Stored Value", and had a mintage of 20,000. These were sold to employees.

Visa International also issued up to 10,000 SVCs for use at various exhibitions in specially prepared vending machines, with the cards expiring immediately after the trade shows concluded.

Visa International is now moving to full trials of the Stored Value Cards.

Three Banks Involved

The US Visa Cash trials involve three major banks that have a broad reach into the US South-East, the region in which Atlanta, Georgia - the host city for the 1996 summer Olympics, marking the 100th Anniversary of the modern Olympic Games - is located. The banks and their respective bases are:

- NationsBank (Charlotte)
- First Union Corporation (Charlotte)

Wachovia Corporation (Atlanta)

In addition, NationsBank has been appointed the official bank of the Games, and as such, will be the only one of the three offering banking services within the Games complex.

Cards from all three banks will be able to be purchased across the counter at branches, and also Page 12 — Phonecard Monthly through card dispensing machines (CDMs) throughout Atlanta and the wider test area.

Unlike Australian Visa Cash cards, there will not be any designs common to all the banks - rather each has outlined a schedule of issues promoting both its own brand and including some co-branded issues featuring the images of other advertisers. This naturally leads to some fantastic design posibilities, bringing such household names as Dominoes Pizza and Taco Bell onto the cards.

Common Elements

A number of elements will be common to all US Visa Cash cards:-

- all cards will carry the blue "Visa Cash" logo seen on the Australian cards:
- all cards will be disposable in the first instance (although some are already mentioning cards that will be reloadable through ATMs);
- all cards will carry a serial number and expiration dates:
- all will have a warning to consumers to treat the cards like cash, as they will not be replaced if lost or stolen.

Visa has stated that the expiration dates are required because, with technology moving so rapidly and more innovative cards already on the drawing boards, there is concern about consumers trying to use outmoded cards in the next generation of readers.

Card Acceptance

The banks state that Visa Cash cards will be accepted by about 5000 merchants, both within Olympic venues and in the Atlanta area. Merchants will accept cards regardless of the issuing bank, as all can be scanned through the one reading device. Cards will be able to be used in Bell South payphones, of which about 200 will be installed in the trial area, and on the public transport system MARTA

So what will be on issue?

The following table (see page 14) provides some information about the approximately 2 million Visa Cash anticipated to be produced and sold in the lead-up to, and during, the Atlanta Olympics.

Where expected prices are quoted, the cards are already in circulation and available to collectors. Much information is not yet available, because designs and denominations - particularly for the cobranded cards - have not yet been finalised.

Both NationsBank and First Union plan to issue almost 1 million cards each, with Wachovia Corp. limiting itself to 100,000 cards, all of which have already been announced and are set out in the table. Based in Atlanta, it is no surprise that the Wachovia athlete cards all show the Atlanta city skyline (including its own building) as a backdrop.

All banks involved have conducted pilot tests of Visa Cash cards to date, although in a variety of ways. Wachovia has used two of the Salute to Atlanta cards, the hurdler and swimmer, which were made available to employees for use in the cafeteria at its Atlanta headquarters. This pilot began on 29 January 1996, and is still continuing. NationsBank issued $5 and $20 cards in October

NationsBank issued $5 and $20 cards in October 1995, and these have been used primarily by employees in the cafeteria and convenience stores in its buildings in Norfolk, Virginia, and Atlanta.

(Reverse NationsBank trial card - see page 15)

Innovative Pilot

First Union had the most innovative pilot test. As well as issuing cards to employees to use at retailers in its office buildings,

(Reverse First Union/Texaco series - see page 15)
First Union conducted a trial in conjunction with the Jacksonville Jaguars NFL football team during last season, whereby cards were made available for fans attending home games to use to purchase food, drink and merchandise inside the stadium in Florida.

The eight cards were issued singly (each available at only one of the eight home games) and together they form a picture. They are now expired, and as a set make an interesting collectable fore-runner to the Olympic First Union Visa Cash cards.

How will you obtain copies of these cards in Australia, and how collectable are they?

To look at the last point first, the US magazine, Money Card Collector, states that "it is likely that all of the first issues from all three banks will be highly collectable". They go on to foreshadow that many of the cards will be taken home by foreign visitors to the Games, and that once it is known how many were used and discarded "the cards could end up being the jewels of many moneycard collections".

Unless you are lucky enough to be going to Atlanta for the Olympics, you will have to rely on local dealers for your supply of the cards. All the banks will have distribution systems in place, and will not be taking orders from collectors. Distributors (who must pay face value plus shipping, insurance, etc.) will be selling the mint cards at over face value, and the Australian distributor (see advert) is making mint cards available here at about the same prices as US dealers are charging.

Used cards are unlikely to be available, and the few collectors who attend the Games will no doubt be holding on tightly to any used cards they can bring back

For more information about US Visa Cash cards, keep 'an eye out' for further news updates in this magazine as we report on new issues, or you can contact the Australian distributor:-

AUSTRALIAN VISA CASH CARDS

Survey of Quantities Issued of the Gold Coast Trial Cards

To help determine the issue quantities of the generic and theme park cards released to date on the Gold Coast, we would like to ask for your assistance. We have looked at the printing codes and serial numbers of the Gold Coast cards and have identified the following issues. All of these cards have been sighted by us, except those marked "(?)", which are only presumed to exist at this stage.

Serial Number Range

Value $5 $5 $5 $5 $5 $5 $5 $5	Wording on Front of Card Disposable National Australia Bank Disposable Disposable Australian Credit Unions Disposable Disposable Disposable (?)	Print Code 05021 05022 05022 05023 05024 05024 05025
$20 $20 $20 $20 $20 $20 $20 $20 $20 $20	Disposable National Australia Bank Disposable (?) Disposable Australian Credit Unions Disposable Disposable Movie World (Entrance) Movie World - Batman Movie World - Lethal Weapon Wet 'n' Wild Sea World	05021 05022 05022 05023 05024 05024 05025 06026 06026 06026 06026
$50 $50 $50 $50 $50 $50 $50	Disposable National Australia Bank Disposable Disposable Australian Credit Unions Disposable (?) Disposable	05021 05022 05022 05023 05024 05024 05025

The print code is the 5 digit code printed on the upper right corner of the reverse of each card (upper left for the Theme Park cards). Immediately to the right of the Print Code is a six digit serial number which we believe runs through an entire Print Code and then starts again from zero for the next Print Code. For example, the following illustrates the serial numbers we have seen so far in Print Code 05023:-

	Range Seen	Range Inferred	Quantity Inferred
$ 5 Disposable	000521 003889	000001 005000	5,000
$20 Disposable	007248 009074	005001 015000	10,000
$50 Disposable	016217 021386	015001 025000	10,000

By plotting serial ranges seen by collectors to date, we hope to be able to produce reasonably accurate figures of the quantities of each card produced. The above table is very preliminary, but with your help in telling us the highest and lowest serial numbers you have for each denomination in each Print Code, we will be able to publish more complete tables next month.

You can photocopy the list of Print Codes above (cover over the cards) and write in the serial numbers of cards you have. Please return these lists to the Editor by mail (PO Box 1309, Tamworth, NSW 2340) or fax (067 658006) before 24th May for inclusion in the next issue.

From all contributions received, one name will be drawn and the person will receive a National Australia Bank Test Card with the Expiry Date of 6/96 on it!!

INSIDER'S INVESTMENT INFORMATION SERVICE

This service is for serious investors who study their hobby with investment in mind. The service is in the form of an investment "letter" sent out 4 times a year direct to subscribers with interim letters at special times where warranted. These letters look seriously at particular cards/designs/themes, etc., with analysis to show whether the cards are buy, sell or hold opportunities. More detailed information, too involved to be published in the regular monthly column, will also be included. The information contained within will be more thorough than my general articles based in this magazine and my monthly column will still continue as a separate entity. Wheras in my monthly article I may mention that particular cards may be good buys, in the investment letter I will give a factual analysis to which particular cards are the best buys.

DETAILS OF THE SERVICE

The subscription fee is $25 per each 3 monthly letter (interim letters free). Initial subscription fee is $100 which covers the first 12 months beginning with the first letter due out in June this year. At the end of each 12 month period a letter will be sent out giving subscribers the chance to renew their subscription.

Subscribers may cancel their subscription after the first two letters received and a refund will be sent to them. All payments are to be made payable to Australasian Phonecard Monthly. All subscription applications from subscribers are to be mailed to the APM, addressed to "Grapevine Investment Service". Subscribers will have the opportunity to seek written advice on any matter by writing to Insider, C/o the APM.

A small number of subscription places are available now. Insider

AusCard '96 It's Over!!

The three days of 19 - 21 April, brought to an end the lead up and preparatory work for AusCard '96. In fact, it was not till about 8.30 on Sunday evening when the last booth had been dismantled in the Exhibition Hall and removed that I could 'take a breath' and reflect on the previous three days and, in fact, the days and weeks prior.

In the following few pages Insider has provided readers with a "tour" around the the Exhibition Hall, taking in and commenting on the sorrounds.

In addition to the highly visible "buying and selling" of phonecards and collector packs over the three days of AusCard, a number of other interesting aspects were noted.

The Exhibition

My compliments and congratulations go to the students of Ela Beach International School in Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea, for the obvious time and effort they put into preparing their displays for entry into the Age Category of the Exhibition.

The comments of both the general public and the three judges were most complimentary.

The six exhibits stood out and it was hard to adjudge an eventual winner amongst them.

The decision eventually went to Wilfred Amana (aged 11) for his entry Flags & Badges. The entry submitted by Sinaka Goava - Art - (also aged 11) received high commendation from the judges.

Wilfred Amana (standing) & Sinaka Goava

A parcel containing a trophy and a selection of phonecards and packs is 'on the way' to Port Moresby. My thanks to Danny Jurd from Status Collectables for sponsoring this category.

A cheque donated by the APM is also included.

My personal thanks to Jim Shearing, teaching at Ela Beach International School, for his assistance to me in liasing with the students and with PNG Telikom re preparation for AusCard '96.

The 13+ Age Category did not receive a great many entries, but all were innovative and well presented. The eventual winner was an entry submitted by David Martin from Windsor, NSW, featuring phonecards from a number of countries with the theme - Global Communications.

My thanks to Peter August from the Universal Coin Co. in Melbourne, for his donation of a full set of Coke packs as issued by Universal Coin Co., to David Martin.

Unfortunately, the Open Club Category did not receive a single entry and as such the Perpetual Trophy will remain uninscribed and the prizemoney gathering interest for next year.

The Auction

I have just received the final details of bids for the Auction Lots but due to the urgency of finishing off 'the last few pages for the printer' I will leave a summary of events for the next issue of APM.

Briefly, of note however, was the innovative Charity component of the Auction. Telstra is to be commended for preparing a number of signed and framed collector packs for this Charity Auction.

Four framed sets of International Exhibition/Fair packs, signed by Telstra staff who were in attendance, were auctioned off.

Bidding was quite spirited with a number of those attending quite keen to obtain the respective items. The four 'frames' were eventually auctioned for a total of $1,130; funds which will be donated to Sydney's Wesley Mission.

More on this in the next issue of APM.

Commemorative Phonecards

A number of phonecards were featured in the last issue of APM. The following two cards were also issued at AusCard '96, the first by Papua New Guinea Telikom and the second by Card Phone Australia.

As indicated a further report (and photos) will be included in the June issue of APM - Editor.

THE GRAPEVINE

by Insider

AusCard '96 Fair at the Sydney Opera House

This fair was the first of its kind in Australia and represents a milestone in the progress of the hobby. An enormous amount of work went into the preparation and planning for this fair by the organiser and the general consensus was that it was a success, although, as with all first ventures, pointers were noted to improve the event for the 'next time around'.

To have staged such a fair in these tough times was a test in itself - if the fair survived in a 'tough year' then it, and the hobby, should continue to develop and grow as times improve.

Twenty One Stands

A total of twenty one dealers and telcos took stands and I believe this number reflects one of the largest gatherings of those involved in the hobby and trade. Attendance by the general public was good with many people availing themselves of the opportunity of attending on the Friday. Most international fairs start on the Thursday (four day fairs) or Friday (three day fairs) and this allows collectors to plan the best time to attend and also helps prevent a 'log-jam' on the Saturday, which is normally the best attended day.

On the Spot

Since the fair was organised by the Editor of this magazine I was able to secure a special early entry into the rooms whilst the dealers were setting up.

Each stand had the use of carpeted walls and dealers had fixed items to these walls resulting in a very presentable display for their booths. The use of glass display counters as used overseas allowed many more special items to be displayed than is normally possible on tables.

The room was rectangular in shape with stalls placed around the outside with a centre row of single stalls. The telcos were at the rear of the hall on an elevated area looking down on the other exhibitors.

Generic Door Card

At 10 o'clock it was outside to join the queue to get the Generic Fair card.

Around the Room

Upon entering the room I noted Visa Cash Collector Services to my right, featuring a display of the new Gold Coast Movie World Stored Value Cards in folders. Five cards in all were displayed, featuring Warner Brothers characters such as Batman, Bugs Bunny, etc. Showbags and hats were also being distributed free to collectors.

The next stand was one shared by Paramount Phonecards and Lighthouse Philatelic Supplies. The latter had available all manner of albums, sleeves, etc., whilst the former had a selection of Australian material as well as world phonecards and packs. Some good material could be seen at reasonable prices attached to the walls. Piles of other stock lay all around the stallholders feet - I even noticed a Visa Cash card from America (I hadn't realised they had printed any yet!)

Ian Russell - Paramount Phonecards

Walking around the hall, in an anti-clockwise direction, the next stand saw PayTel with promotional material for their magazine (The PayTel Collector), as well as on their various payphones located on the trains of Australia.

Graham & Stuart Rooke - PayTel Aust.

Just past PayTel was the first West Australian stand, containing Ron Moss of the Great Aussie Phonecard Company. Ron had the usual Australian material with various fair packs he had collected whilst overseas, displayed on the walls. These packs were listed at a good price.

The next stand contained Sydney dealers Peter and Kathy Craft of Prospect Stamps & Coins. An excellent range of stock was on display in albums and on the walls. Lots to look at in this stall and it was easy to pass time looking for cards.

Kathy Craft from Prospect Stamps & Coins

Tony Boyd from Brisbane was next with an excellent range of stock including a wide range of Custom cards and even some used Stored Value Cards from the Gold Coast's Movie World (the cards were only released a few days before the fair so Tony must have flown down on Aladdin's flying carpet to get some in time for the fair!)

Last on the right hand side was Dan O'Loughlin of Wishart Phonecards. Dan was keen to tell all about 'this card and that card' and I left his stall knowing a good deal more than before I arrived at his stall!

Dan O'Loughlin with a captive audience.

On turning at the end of the hall I passed the club table which was 'staffed' by members from the Sydney and Melbourne Phonecard Clubs.

(He was in the room on the last day Ken - Ed.)
Status Collectables and the Phonecard Collector were next on the other side of the hall with a good selection of world and Australian material.

Working my way back down the left hand side of the hall, MEF Books, next to Status, had a display case packed with all sorts of oddments from 'all over'. A good range of topical cards from around the world at good prices were supplimented with a fine range of catalogues.

Next came Hiralal Investments. A modest range of stock covered the table and some specials lined the walls. However, boxes and boxes of material were at the back of the stand on a table, as well as on the floor, so obviously more stock was available than could be seen at first glance.

"I tell you what mate" said Hari (left) to Sonny.
Sonny Carter of Sydney Phonecards was next with a good range of Australian as well as some books containing world thematics.

Last in this row was Edlins of Canberra. Less stock was on display at this stand to what is normally on view, but half of their table space was taken up with auction material (800 plus lots auctioned on Saturday night!)

In the corner of the room was Gabriele's Phonecards. A range of quality world cards were on display but very little Australian material was visible.

International Numismatics were last on the outside perimeter of the room and their stand had much on display. A very colourful display of custom packs on the tables and within most of the display cases were their own manufactured phonecards (using PayTel technology) and featuring various cartoon characters.

Down the centre of the room, the first stand was occupied by the Melbourne Phonecard Centre. This stand wins the award for the 'most phonecards exhibited per square metre'. A very colourful display with a huge range of overseas cards (mainly Japanese thematics), but I did spot books with country cards as well as a good range of Australian material.

Next was the other West Australian dealer in Ian Grimson from Westland Phonecards. Ian had a good range of Australian and world material available.

The Sydney Stamp Centre, with a good selection of Australian and world cards available, was next, whilst Haxby Collectables was positioned at the end of the centre row with an excellent range of world cards available. Chris Williamson wins the 'overseas award' for having the best range and depth of 'overseas country' cards.

Moving up the stairs to view the Telcos, I noted Telstra with all their new issues plus with special offers of T-Shirts and CDs of the Sony artist series. These were all free with different purchases and represented one very good reason to visit these type of fairs! I am waiting for Telstra to be 'floated' and then I'll be hoping for free share certificates with each purchase of their products.

'Happiness is......' 3 ladies from Telstra
Next came the Papua New Guinea Telikom stand with a beautiful range of colouful cards featuring Orchids, Pepsi, Birds of Paradise, etc. Two very pleasant representatives from PNG Telikom were on hand to answer questions and to help customers.
The Pepsi and AusCard '96 overprint cards both sold out on the weekend.

Jerry Damoi & Simon Koima (PNG Telikom)
G & C Quality Stamps & Coins were located amongst the Telcos and they had a good range of Australian cards at nice prices.

New Zealand Telecom was next, with their usual display of colourful and well designed cards. The 'Spot the Dog' Fair card sold very well during the weekend with the full allocation available being purchased.

The crowd was better than I had expected for a Friday, with a reasonable attendance on the Saturday and the usual 'relaxed' attendance for the Sunday.

Auction

Unable to attend the auction, I had to gather information on happenings from those attending. Reports were promising with very good prices being attained for many lots.

Some spirited bidding pushed many lots up above the estimates but in general, some bargains were apparently obtained by those game enough to sit through the auction of 800 plus lots!

All in all a good positive weekend, with all those I spoke to, looking forward to AusCard '97.

Telsta News

It seems that some of those missing prefix numbers that have confounded collectors for so long, may in fact turn out to be already printed!!

Rumour has it that Telstra has printed various 'tourist type cards'. These cards will be available at tourist venues such as the Sydney Opera House, for example, and will feature a topical picture of the particular tourist spot. For example, a phonecard featuring the Opera House may well have been printed.

If this rumour is true, then Telstra has embarked upon a program that will eventually see a boom in the number of different designed cards. This will increase the cards available for thematic collectors but because of the number of new issues, the main body of collectors will not include them in their serial collections.

I still think that Telstra will have a sudden conversion to chip cards at some point in the next 12 months, so all of the above may completely change when the chip cards take over.

The best motto in times of change, 'is to be aware of what is happening and look for and take opportunities'.

Happy hunting!!

NEW ZEALAND SCENE

An Update by David Harcourt

Ninety nine plus percent of phonecard collecting activity in New Zealand is based on cards issued by Telecom New Zealand. Telecom has one or two minor rivals, some of which may eventually develop into significant competitors in the collectables market. In the meantime, however, this giant company dominates phonecard collecting here.

The total number of collector packs and other major

Telecom has "accredited" fifteen dealers throughout the country to supply its cards. In March these dealers met, at Telecom's request, to discuss steps to deal with a market which has seen prices decline to a fifth of the level they were in mid-1994.

This decline hadn't been confined to the lower quality end of the market. Genuinely scarce collectables such as the first 20 collector packs, issued by Telecom between February 1992 and February 1994, have also been affected.

The issue numbers of these packs were low: in 17 cases, 2000 or less were issued. (Contrast this with Adcard Pack Six, issued in September 1994. No fewer than 8000 of these packs were issued, of which 3000 were subsequently destroyed.)

The value of these first 20 collector packs, the creme de la creme of New Zealand phonecard collectables, peaked at roughly NZ$28,000 in July 1994. This wasn't too bad an investment for those who had bought their packs direct from Telecom at a total price of $1875.

There were other collectors (and many more investors), of course, who bought these packs on the secondary market in July 1994, and paid July 1994 prices. These unfortunates have seen their investments fall to roughly a fifth of their peak value.

Hardly surprisingly, by March 1996, the point had been reached where confidence in New Zealand in phonecards as a collectable, was of concern.

Issues to Consider

Quality was hardly the issue. In 1995 there was a dramatic improvement in the average quality of the phonecard collectable products issued in Telecom's name.

Phonecard collecting was still extremely expensive however. The 14 collector packs and related major collectables issued by Telecom in 1995 cost standing order customers NZ$33.46 a week. It seemed to many to be a lot to spend on a hobby.

The problem which was avoided for too long, however, was issue numbers. As 1995 progressed, it became clear that these were far too high. By the end of the year they had begun to be reduced, but the reaction to reduced demand had been too slow, and the scale of the action taken was too cautious when it came.

The total number of collector packs and other major collectables issued in 1995 was little different from that in 1994, the boom year: 43,000 versus 48,850. A reduction of 12 percent in quantity at a time when demand had fallen to a quarter or less of that in mid-1994 wasn't enough. Prices fell again in 1995.

This, then, was the background to the meeting of Telecom accredited dealers in March 1996.

Telecom Has Its Say

National Payphones Manager Bruce Buddicom told the meeting that immediately following his appointment last June he'd been unconvinced that Telecom should be in the collectables business. By November, however, he'd come to the conclusion that "this was a business we want to be in". (Sighs of relief all round.)

The issue, then, became finding what could be done to "put a bit of life back into things". There wasn't much consensus about how this might be done, Buddicom said. "People have directly opposite views on this".

Over to the Dealers

Dealers were then asked to express their views from the floor, and what they had to say tended to illustrate Buddicom's point. Perhaps the most perceptive contribution was made by Auckland dealer Ed Romans, who trades as 'Stamp Agency'. He said that it had to be accepted that markets for collectables were characterised by boom and bust cycles, and there was no point in basing projections on boom years like 1994.

"It's only realistic demand that's going to get us out of this," Romans said. "The number of collectors is certainly important, but the length of time people hold their cards is also important." He illustrated this with the example - deadeningly familiar to every phonecard dealer - of the person who had bought a pair of $5 cards in a folder for $15 one day, and was in his shop looking for a higher price the next day! 'In the real world of collecting - in stamps, for example," Romans said, "you can't expect to buy things one day and sell them for a profit the next." Stamp dealers typically paid $60 for each $100 in face value for mint stamps. Phonecard collectors were going to have to expect similar for most cards.

Decision Time

Then the meeting got down to business. Collectors of New Zealand cards will be underwhelmed to find that most discussion, and nearly all of the key decisions made, focussed on the need for more information about phonecard releases, better information, and earlier information. But it was.

The impact of these decisions will emerge over the next six to eight months. I believe it will be considerable.

There was some more concrete news, however. First, as has since been publicly announced, the quantities of collector products issued will be sharply reduced in 1996, and these reductions will be maintained for at least six months.

General issue packs will be cut back to 2250 (down from 3500-4000) for most of 1995), and AdCard packs - packs containing the New Zealand equivalent of Custom cards - will be reduced to 2000. Most packs will be sold by ballot, and a lot of collectors will miss out in each ballot.

The immediate upshot of this decsion was a complete sell-out of the Year of the Rat collector pack. Half as many Rat packs - 2000 - were issued as Pig packs in 1994.

Year of the Pig packs are currently trading at as little as NZ$95, which was their issue price a year ago, while the Rat is trading at NZ$195, and becoming hard to find at that price.

Secondly, it was confirmed that high quality, big ticket collectables similar to the three specials - Passpot, Reserve Bank joint issue, and New Zealand Post joint issue - issued in 1995, will again be released in 1996. There may be a joint issue with Telstra.

Thirdly, there are plans for several new products designed for the serious collector. The scope for premium pack products - "proofs" of each new definitive issue - is being considered. A series of limited theme cards may be released through accredited dealers. There may be further "loyalty" packs, like the bonus pack issued with Adcard Seven.

Fourthly, Telecom's controversial auctions are to continue, although the number is to be restricted. At least this means that the popular series of butterfly cards, issued with each lot purchased at auction, will continue.

Bogus Phonecards

Dealers also took the opportunity provided by the March meeting to discuss the "investment phonecards" issued by an Auckland company, "Phonecard Traders International". These are described by the company as "phonecards". They certainly look like phonecards, but have no calling value, cannot therefore be used in a phone, and were of course never intended to be used in one.

Phonecard Traders International boasts that it sold over a million dollars worth of these bogus phonecards in 1995, which explains why dealers in New Zealand are starting to be plagued by people wanting to sell the wretched things. We decided it was time for some decisive action. Watch this space!

Euphoria!

The meeting ended in high spirits. Too high. So euphoric was the atmosphere, in fact, that I became rather alarmed and launched into my Cassandra on the walls of Troy act: "Talking isn't going to fix the New Zealand phonecard market. If we did everything we say we're going to do here, and more besides, it still mightn't be enough...."

Oh dear. Watches were inspected. Eyes glazed over. Papers were shuffled together. Thoughts turned to the free nosh-up which Telecom was to sponsor later in the evening. Outside the conference room, a rainbow broke through the clouds. Somewhere, a bird began to sing.

My colleagues knew that they and collectors would soon be gambolling together along pretty paved paths through elegant gardens in a broad sunlit upland. There, collectors would gather colourful cards from the phonecard trees on every side, and the dealers would gather colourful banknotes from the collectors.

Everything was going to be all right after all.

David Harcourt is a Telecom Accredited PhoneCard Dealer, and publisher of New Zealand Phonecard News, a quarterly magazine about the phonecard market in New Zealand.

FORTHCOMING NZ ISSUES

It is anticipated that Telecom New Zealand will be releasing six general PhoneCard issues in 1996.

The four card Maori Legends set (Part 2) was the first, released in January of this year. (See January issue of APM.)

Released in April is the sequel to the 1995 NZ Birds series. This four card set depicts native birds of New Zealand. The fifth card features all birds in the series.

An issue due for release in May - The Call of the Wild - should appeal to younger phonecard users and collectors.

Carrying clear cut images of a toucan, a giraffe, a tropical fish and a donkey (with a combined fifth card for the Collector Pack), they certainly stand out.

THE PHONECARDS OF THAILAND

Part 6. Allan Douglas

The following is a continuation of the checklist of the phonecards of Thailand which was commenced in the October 1995 issue of The Australasian Phonecard Monthly.

Issue	Date:		28-03-37	ie.	28-03-1994
99.	Baht	100	Coral			300,000
100.	Baht	100	Coral			300,000
101.	Baht	100	Coral			300,000
102.	Baht	200	Coral			300,000

When these four cards are placed together, they form a large picture of an underwater scene featuring coral and small fishes. This was the first "jigsaw puzzle" set to be issued in Thailand. Two cards are placed in a normal position and the other two cards are placed upside down against them to make the large scene.

This subject is very close to my stomach and the variety and taste of Thai food is 'out of this world'. One of my favourite eating places for a mid-day meal in Bangkok is in the alley ways or on the streets. The chef at these stalls always has a few stools and small tables set up on the footpath and the food is cooked while you wait.

I always stress, usually in sign language, that I want really hot (spicy) Thai food, as out of consideration for the westerners throat, usually, the cook will not throw too much chilli and spices into the dish.

For the princely sum of A$1.50 I have a "hot" meal and a small bottle of Cola. From the first mouthful. I tend to break out in a sweat and continue to do so for the next hour. This is the real Thai food as the locals eat it.

It can be a little 'off putting' seeing all the "moggies" (cats) hanging around the cooking pot but, hopefully, none of their relatives are in the wok!

CLUB & SOCIETY NEWS

This Section Is Provided To Phonecard Clubs & Societies For The Promotion Of Their Activities And Membership. Articles Provided Will Be Reproduced At No Cost To The Club.

Melbourne Phonecard Club Inc. PO Box 177, Northcote, Vic. 3070 Secretary: Keith Sykes

The monthly Club meeting on Easter Saturday, attracted 36 enthusiasts, including a member from Sydney, and several people interested in joining the Club. The Club continues to attract a steady growth in new members which augers well for the future of the hobby.

The meeting itself was devoted mainly to a "swap till you drop", which was particularly brisk in good Australian issues. The auction item, a collector set of Norfolk Island whales, was very popular.

The main feature for the month of April was AusCard '96, attended by at least seven members of the Melbourne Phonecard Club - Ken Hosking (President), Warren Titcher (Vice-Pres.), Jo Titcher, Eric and Cindy Schuenemann, Allan Howe and David Mohan.

Warren and Jo attended from set-up time on Thursday afternoon to the close at 4.30 on the Sunday, and assisted the Sydney Phonecard Club on the special table for Phonecard Clubs (thanks to the APM).

Rick McCormick & Michael Taylor (Sydney Phone. Club) & Jo Titcher Melb. Phonecard Club) at AusCard '96

Some 750 Club Promotional Cards were given away to interested collectors, which included a selection from Sydney, Melbourne and Rosebud Clubs. The opportunity was also given to attract new members to the Clubs and to promote The Australasian Phonecard Monthly and the 'Complete Guide to Phonecards of Australia', by Glen Bellamy (still only $5 from the Sydney Phonecard Club). The Fair also gave us the opportunity to meet Glen Bellamy in person, as well as Michael Taylor (President of the Sydney Phonecard Club) and other members of the Committee. All are great enthusiasts and very hard working for their members.

Fair attendance was steady and a must for the devoted phonecard collector. Fortunately, the speculators of 1994/95 seem to have disappeared and prices for good quality cards have become more realistic. The most difficult items seem to be the recent localised state issues - Perth, Sydney and Adelaide Festivals, Victorian Grand Prix, IndyCar, and - whether you like it or not - the Sydney Gay & Lesbian Mardi Gras issue.

The three AusCards available, particularly the $2 Complimentary, were well supported, as well as the Easter Show Phonecard.

Papua New Guinea Telikom and New Zealand Telecom had special issue cards for the event which were very popular and the Telstra stand was consistently busy.

Many collectors were also chasing the special dealer Complimentary Phonecards, overprinted by Telstra for the Fair. It appears that seven types exist, and hopefully other dealers will do these overprints later on as a bonus to their customers.

Warren Titcher - Publicity Officer

Rosebud & District Phonecard Collectors Club Inc. PO Box 211, Rosebud, Vic. 3939 Secretary: Sandy Kitto

This Club held a Fair on the 16th of March. which was well attended. The continuing interest in the hobby indicates it to be quite healthy, with many large sales made by dealers in attendance.

The Club continues to prepare for a busy two months, May and June, as it is holding another Fair at the Caufield Secondary College, corner of Booran & Neerim Roads, Melway 68 D3, on the 18th of May, between 10am and 4pm.

Several tables have been booked by dealers, including the Melbourne Phonecard Centre, Card Phone Australia, Promocard International, Cyril Fox Grant Carter, Peter Spokes and John Thomas.

Also, the Club has decided to hold a Mini Fair on the 8th of June, in the Club rooms at the Anglican Church Hall, corner Sixth Avenue and Point Nepean Road, Rosebud (Melway 158 D 12).

Attendance to this Fair is free and tables are also free to Club members, and all, including visitors, will be able to swap, buy and sell phonecards and accessories. The Mini Fair will be open between 1pm and 4pm and an Auction will be conducted, commencing at 3pm.

John Thomas - President

Gold Coast Philatelic & Phonecard Club 48 Dandar Drive, Southport, Qld. 4215

The above Club will be holding its annual Stamp and Phonecard Day on 27 July at the Albert Waterways Hall, Broadbeach, on the Gold Coast (just over from the Casino and Pacific Fait Shopping Centres).

It will be open to the public from 8am to 4pm on that day. All are welcome to attend - the venue is wheelchair 'friendly'. Free admission and lucky door prizes are a feature, whilst there will be plenty to eat and drink.

Jim Harris

Paradise Phonecard Club PO Box 2408, Nerang, Qld. 4211 Secretary: Jan Weger

Jan has advised me that the Paradise Phonecard Club had its AGM on the 2nd of March, 1996, with most members in attendance.

The Club has only one change to its committee from the previous year - Wim Matzer (formerly of the Kangaroo Phonecard Club in Brisbane) is the new Treasurer.

The other Office Bearers include; Graham Perrett as the President, Barbara Corrigan as the Vice President, Jan Weger as Secretary, Laurie Brown as Exchange Superintendant, Tim Weger the Junior Liason Officer and Daryl Flint and Shane Safier as Committee Members.

The Club still meets on the first Saturday of every month at 1pm at No. 2 Cran Street, Ashmore. Further information can be obtained from Jan Weger on (07) 5578 2993.

'IDENTIFY THE COUNTRY' Club Competition No. 3

The three cards reproduced in the April edition of APM were issued as follows, top to bottom:-

- 1. Pakistan
- 2. Bangladesh
- 3. Argentina

Whilst I thought I'd make it harder, the receipt of only one response surprised me! Congratulations to Brian Connett (again) from Elermore Vale, NSW, a member of the Sydney Phonecard Collectors Club.

The competition will take a recess for a month.
